

Postponement of the publication of the Gas Network Development Plan 2022 - 2032

Berlin, 02.05.2022. Due to the current geopolitical situation, the transmission system operators intend to take the significant changes in the context of the German gas industry into account in the Gas Network Development Plan 2022 – 2032.

The publication of the consultation document on the Gas Network Development Plan 2022 – 2032 and the subsequent consultation period have therefore been postponed. The transmission system operators are currently in close consultation with the Federal Network Agency (BNetzA) regarding the new time table for publication. The public will be informed in a timely manner about the further schedule.
